

Sample Basic Daily Schedule

Marilyn Boyer

Lots of people ask me what a day has looked like in our home while homeschooling.

Here is a sample schedule. It changes often depending on ages of kids, husband's schedule, sickness, etc., but here is one that worked for a number of years for us. This is very simplified, but hopefully it helps some.

7:30 a.m.- UP

8:00- Breakfast and get dressed

8:30- Put in a load of laundry

8:45-9:00- Kids pick up clutter while mom spends time with preschoolers.

9:00-10:15- Schooltime—preschoolers work on preschool activities (see Schooltime activities for Preschoolers)

10:15-10:30—Snack break for older kids/mom spends another 15 minutes with preschoolers

10:30-noon- Schooltime

Noon- Older kids make lunch while mom spends another 15 minutes with preschoolers

Put in more laundry

12:15-12:45 p.m.- Lunch and cleanup

1:00- 2:30- Naptime for little ones/Rest time/Devotions for older ones/mom has time to herself to plan, read, etc.

1:00-1:45- Chore time for older kids

2:30-4:30- Play time/special projects/appointments or errand time on errand days

4:30-5:00- Pick up clutter, work on supper, etc.

5:00-6:00- Supper and clean up

7:00-7:30- Family Time

Bedtimes vary with ages of child—we put little ones down one at a time and pray with them, talk a bit about their day

Mom and Dad spend some time together

Check out our website for our full line of character curriculum - www.CharacterConcepts.com

